

“Indiana University 2018 Commencement” info graph

This info graph illustrates the statistics reflecting the 2018 graduates of Indiana University.

The headline of the graphic reads, “2018 Indiana University Commencement.” The headline is on a photograph of an IU graduate wearing his cap and gown, holding his IU diploma cover.

Beneath the image is a statistic box that reads:

- 21,046 number of degrees granted, with an image of a graduation cap and diploma to the left of it

Beneath that statistic are three circles with three additional facts:

- There are 39 sets of twins graduating; this is illustrated by an image of two people standing next to each other
- The oldest graduating student is 75; this is illustrated by an image of a graduate wearing a cap and gown and holding a diploma
- The youngest graduating student is 19; this is illustrated by an image of a graduate wearing a cap and gown and holding a diploma

Beneath that set of facts, the next statistic box illustrates the most numerous degrees being granted, including:

- 2,856 Bachelor of Arts degrees are being granted, with 414 of those being psychology majors. This is illustrated by an image of a brain
- 2,716 Bachelor of Science degrees are being granted, with 779 of those being finance majors. This is illustrated by an image of a calculator

Beneath that statistic are three circles with that three additional facts:

- Graduates are from 136 different countries; this is illustrated by an image of the globe
- Twenty-two percent of graduates are first-generation students; this is illustrated by an image of a graduate wearing a cap
- Graduates are from all 50 states; this is illustrated by an image of the United States

At the bottom of the graphic is an IU logo, with the tagline “Fulfilling the Promise”