

“Indiana University 2019 Commencement” graphic

At the top of the graphic is the headline “Indiana University 2019 Commencement by the Numbers.” The IU trident is to the left of the headline. The headline and trident are white on a red background.

A dotted line separates the header from the next two charts:

- The words "21,500 total degrees" appear above a graduation cap used as a chart. Cap is divided into four color-coded sections, from top to bottom, indicating how many of each type of degrees will be granted:
 - 1,422 doctoral/specialist, 7.05 percent
 - 15,620 bachelor's, 72.32 percent
 - 4,314 master's, 20 percent
 - 143 associate, 0.63 percent
- One hundred people icons are used to illustrate the total number of students graduating and the percentage from each campus:
 - 9,596 students from IU Bloomington, 45.82 percent
 - 7,021 students from IUPUI, 33.53 percent
 - 1,022 students from IU South Bend, 4.88 percent
 - 966 students from IU Southeast, 4.61 percent
 - 837 students from IU East, 4 percent
 - 821 students from IU Northwest, 3.92 percent
 - 679 students from IU Kokomo, 3.24 percent
 - The total number is 20,942

A dotted line separates the above two charts from the next section.

Underneath the charts are seven icons as follows: a pair of individuals, a silhouette of Indiana, a silhouette of the United States, a globe, a person wearing a tie, a brain and two arrows.

Next to the symbols is the information as follows:

- 29 sets of twins
- 92 Indiana counties
- 52 states represented
- 138 countries represented
- Most popular degrees: Bachelor of Science in finance, with 867 graduates, and Bachelor of Arts in psychology, with 414 graduates.
- The age range of graduates is 19 to 76.

The IU logo is in the bottom-right corner.
