

Hoosier Life Survey bar graph:

This image contains a horizontal bar graph. The top of the graph is labeled "Hoosiers' views on the likelihood of being impacted by a crisis in next decade, percent who think likely or very likely." The bottom of the chart contains a scale from 0 percent on the left to 60 percent on the right.

The first bar is labeled "economic crisis" and ends midway between 50 and 60 percent.

The second bar is labeled "government shutdown" and ends slightly short of 50 percent.

The third bar is labeled "extreme weather" and ends slightly over 40 percent.

The fourth bar is labeled "major disease outbreak" and ends slightly short of 20 percent.